stay connected with friends and family over
CHRISTMAS

As Coronavirus keeps most of us home, this lack of in-person human contact can cause stress and loneliness.

However, there are many ways to stay connected during social distancing. There are now many platforms where you can stay in touch digitally:

- Google Hangouts
- Zoom
- Facetime
- Skype
- Netflix Parties

Why not get creative! If you have children they could create drawings or write letters to their grandparents or elderly nursing home residents to receive by mail.

Or have kids write letters to their friends or teachers from school. The most important thing is to not become a hermit. Social distancing should help keep us safe, but we need social connection to keep us sane.
