ONE CONTACT FOR ENDLESS POSSIBILITIES

too hot to candle

January was certainly kicked off with a bang!

The month of romance couldn't have come soon enough, that's right Valentine's Day is just around the corner! (Consider this your reminder to get gift hunting)

There's no chance the focus will be extravagance this year, because really, where can we go?! In all seriousness the most special memories often come from time spent with the ones we love.

A great inexpensive way to show affection to our partners is an intimate massage, why not light, drizzle and massage with the help of a massage candle this time of year.

DIRTY*

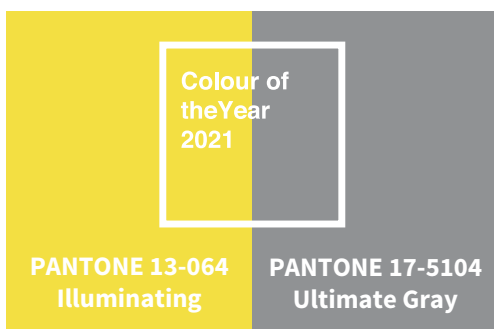

We are finding that hand sanitisers are becoming a staple and we are reaching for them more than our favourite fragrance, but are you tired of your strong-smelling hand sanitiser overpowering the scent of your favourite perfume or aftershave?

There are a multitude of options to combat this now! With a flood of hand sanitiser sales globally last year there have inevitably been some innovative new ideas to come with it.

A trend that we are noticing more and more, is that fragrance houses are combining fragrance oils with the hand sanitisers formulation to keep your hands sanitised but also smelling just like your favourite scents. KeepMe work with fragrance infused sanitiser products end to end!

Pantone believes that the pairing of shades will help people "fortify themselves with energy, clarity and hope" in a world that's set to face increasing uncertainty.

Business in the Far East will resume from 21st February 2021.
